The Ontario Alliance of Christian Schools (OACS, along with their teachers' and principals' associations: OCSTA and OCSAA); the Prairie Centre for Christian Education; and the Society of Christian Schools in British Columbia (SCSBC, along with the regional teachers' and principals' associations: CTABC and CPABC), each have, as part of their mandate, the strengthening of Christian schools within their respective regions. Although there is much that can be done at the regional level, it was felt that the cause of Christian education at provincial, regional and national levels could be strengthened by these organizations working together in a national organization.

Strengthening, advancing and supporting Christian education in Canada

1. Coordinating projects of service to the participating Canadian school (curriculum projects, professional standards, leadership, staff development, finance, stewardship and development).
2. Communicating information among primary stake holders: i.e. teachers, principals and boards, using the website/newsletter, and establishing a protocol for the exchange of goods/ services.
3. Having an influence in the public debate on educational development in Canada through membership in national organizations: e.g. Canadian Education Association, and Canadian Council of Ministers in Education.
4. Monitoring and influencing on-going developments in public policy regarding Christian schools in Canada (taxation and legislation issues).
5. Being open and committed to partnership arrangements with other national and international Christian educational organizations (CSI, WCS, CPCS, ACSI).

Benefits of CSC Membership

Biennial Convention — CSC hosts a national convention every two years. The location of this convention alternates in each of the three member regions: Western Canada, Central Canada and Eastern Canada. CSC directors, board members, curriculum leaders, principals and vice principals from across Canada interact, fellowship and learn from one another. Keynote speakers, workshop leaders and feature speakers share their expertise, and best practices are exchanged among leaders from all over the country. The next conference will be hosted in Ontario in September, 2012.

Sharing and Coordinating Service Projects — Each region shares what it has done in the areas of curriculum, principal mentoring/certification/evaluation and teacher training /certification/ evaluation. Policies and procedures such as mediation and arbitration, school evaluation, early retirement, compensation are also shared, all with a view to helping one another improve in areas of service to our schools, boards, teachers, and administrators.

Cross Country Communication — The CSC website, www.christianschools.ca, allows each region to access joint information and board members' email addresses. There are links to member websites for more resources, as well as to related organizations. Each year CSC produces a Canada-wide directory of member schools available in print and on the website. A yearly CSC calendar keeps each region apprised of special events across the country.

Contributing to the Public Debate on Educational Developments in Canada — Through organizations such as the Canadian Education Association and the Canadian Council of Ministers of Education, CSC keeps abreast of national education issues.

Monitoring Ongoing Developments in Public Policy — As members of CSC, Christian school communities will have input on issues related to sexual identity, harassment, taxation and charitable donations, as well as how to deal with other controversial issues. CSC is the national voice for member schools.

Partnership with Other National and International Organizations — CSC membership provides each Canadian region partnership with a wider network of organizations such as Christian Schools International (CSI), EduDeo (formerly Worldwide Christian School), and other Christian school movements globally. A list of related organizations with links to their websites can be found on the CSC website.

The Prairie Centre for Christian Education opened its doors in August of 2011. PCCE is a community of 16 Christian school communities in Alberta and Manitoba and represents approximately 5,800 students from K-12, nearly 375 teachers and nearly 40 administrators.

PCCE is the joining together of Christian school societies, teachers, and administrators. It provides a variety of support services to different Christian educational communities in the prairie region.

History

On September 13, 2008, a mandate was given to a task force to explore a restructuring of the way the CEA, CPA and PACS function individually and collectively in our region and how these organizations partner with The King's University College. In the fall of 2010 the task force reported to the stakeholders a proposal to establish a centre for Christian Education at The King's University College. By January 2011 the establishment of The Prairie Centre of Christian Education was approved.

Our Vision:

Every Christian educational community in the Canadian prairie region will be supported in the challenge of providing transformational Christian education.

Our Mission:

To provide leadership and support to Christian educational communities in the Canadian prairie region that will:

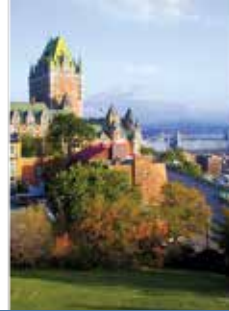

- lead, enhance and promote transformational Christian education in a changing world.
- develop resources, tools and learning opportunities for Christian educational communities (boards, administrators, teachers, parents, students) to understand and implement transformational Christian education in a changing world.

We Value:

- the Biblical proclamation that God is sovereign and Jesus Christ is Lord of all things.
- the Biblical story of God's unrelenting love for the work of his hands.
- each unique Christian educational community and support them.
- the God-given abilities and talents of each child, recognizing that these gifts are to be used for His service.
- the role and responsibility parents have in educating their children within the Christian educational community.
- the role and responsibility of educational professionals within the Christian educational community.
- our family of Christian educational communities and how we can learn from each other and hold each other accountable to the vision, mission and values of Christian education.
- the roots and history of Christian education.
- partnerships with other organizations in the broader Christian community that will support the work, mission and vision of The PCCE.
